Alexandria, LA – January 17, 2025 – Alexandria International Airport Urges Travelers to Monitor Upcoming Weather Conditions and Reevaluate Travel Plans as Needed

Alexandria International Airport (AEX) is advising airline passengers to closely monitor upcoming weather forecasts and potentially reevaluate travel plans to ensure safety and minimize disruptions. The airport anticipates potential weather-related impacts in the coming days, which may affect flight schedules and travel conditions.

“We are committed to ensuring the safety and well-being of our passengers, and staying informed about weather conditions is an important part of that effort,” said Ralph Hennessy, C.M., Executive Director. “We encourage travelers to check for updates frequently, confirm flight details with their airlines, and allow extra time for travel to the airport.”

What Travelers Should Do:

1. Check Flight Status: Visit your airline’s website, app or call customer service directly for real-time updates on delays or cancellations.
2. Plan Ahead: Arrive at AEX earlier than usual to account for potential weather delays on roadways or at the terminal.
3. Pack Essentials: Ensure you have necessary items, such as medications and chargers in your carry-on in case of unexpected delays.
