Alexandria, LA – January 20, 2025 – Flight Cancellations Announced at Alexandria International Airport (AEX) Due to Severe Weather

Airlines serving Alexandria International Airport have begun canceling flights scheduled for tonight and tomorrow due to severe weather conditions impacting the region. Passengers are urged to check directly with their airline for the latest updates on flight statuses, rebooking options, and any potential delays.

The safety of all passengers and staff remains the highest priority. AEX is working closely with airline partners to monitor the evolving weather situation and provide support to travelers.

“We understand the inconvenience weather-related cancellations can cause, and we encourage all passengers to stay informed and make necessary adjustments with the airlines,” said Ralph Hennessy, C.M., Executive Director. “We recommend passengers check their airline’s website or app for updates before traveling to the airport.”
